What if I have more than one trading account?

If you have more than one trading account, your Loyalty Status and points are awarded based on the combined activity of all your accounts. This means that all closed lots and accumulated points across your accounts are aggregated to determine your overall status and rewards.

For example, if you close 300 lots on one trading account and 250 lots on another, you will have closed a total of 550 lots for that month. This combined total would qualify you for 'Platinum' status for the following month, as you have exceeded the 500 lots threshold required for this tier.

Similarly, if you earn 6 points in one trading account and 4 points in another, you will have accumulated a total of 10 points for that month. This aggregation ensures that all your trading activities contribute to your progress in the Loyalty Program, maximizing your potential rewards and benefits. This system is designed to provide a comprehensive and fair assessment of your trading performance across all your accounts.
